2016 Hurricane Season: Be Prepared!

June 1 through November 30 is hurricane season. We have faced the greatest threat from hurricane events in the past and saw the impact it has caused to both coastal and inland communities.

Now, it is time for us to be prepared before the next hurricane hits the Texas coast. Jim Wells County Emergency Management is advising all local communities to stay weather aware and to learn how to protect themselves and their families before, during, and after a hurricane.

Watch local news on your television, listen to your radio for weather updates, and check the weather on the internet.

Go to:

<http://www.nhc.noaa.gov/prepare/ready.php>

to learn more about Hurricane Preparedness.
